

SP 303 SPANISH LANGUAGE IN CONTEXT: EMERGING INDEPENDENT ABROAD
IES Abroad SantiagoDESCRIPTION:

Research has demonstrated that study abroad can enhance every aspect of language ability. One of the most important general findings of this research is, however, that study abroad is most beneficial for the development of abilities related to social interaction. Students who go abroad can learn to do things with words, such as requesting, apologizing, or offering compliments, and they may also learn to interpret situations calling such speech acts in ways that local people do. In short, and logically, study abroad has been shown to enhance the aspects of communicative competence that are most difficult to foster in classroom settings (IES Abroad MAP© for Language and Intercultural Communication, p. 6).

GENERAL STUDENT PROFILE:

Students entering this level must be able to fulfill most of the learning outcomes of the Novice Abroad level, as defined by the IES Abroad MAP for Language and Intercultural Communication. Specifically, they should already be able to express themselves on a variety of concrete, everyday topics and meet their basic needs in the language. Students who enter this level may be more proficient in reading and writing skills than oral communication, especially if they have never traveled or studied abroad previously. Although students may have been exposed previously to certain competencies taught at this level, they need additional practice and instruction to move toward mastery of these competencies. Students at this level may succeed in partner university courses as long as such courses are primarily designed for international students and/or require passive student linguistic participation (art studios, dance).

As students gain more self-awareness and self-confidence, they will attempt more in the community. Paradoxically, this means they may also experience more miscommunications and frustration. Reading and writing require effort, and many students will need to make a special effort in this regard. Students will also develop cultural awareness and skills to work through the challenges of adaptation in the local culture and learn to celebrate their successes. They will begin to appreciate the value of these language and intercultural skills.

By the end of the course, the successful student will have developed enough self-confidence, language, and cultural skills to attempt more complex tasks in Spanish as described in the learning outcomes below.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Students who are placed in this level should be capable of achieving the outcomes defined by the Emerging Independent Abroad level as defined by the IES Abroad MAP for Language and Intercultural Communication.

By the end of the course students will be able to achieve the outcomes for Emerging Independent Abroad level as defined by the IES Abroad MAP for language and Intercultural Communication. The key learning outcomes from the MAP are summarized below:

I. Intercultural Communication

- A. Students will be able to solve most daily troublesome situations and meet needs with limited help.
- B. Students will be able to make informed comparisons between the host culture and the students' home cultures.
- C. Students will be able to distinguish and to imitate verbal and non-verbal communication that reflects politeness, formality, or informality.
- D. Students will be able to recognize patterns of intonation, their meaning, and cultural implications.

II. Listening

- A. Students will be able understand some interactions of moderate complexity (media, speeches, music, conversations, etc.), especially if the speaker is used to interacting with non-native speakers.
- B. Students will be able to understand direct requests, questions, and basic conversations on familiar and concrete topics.

III. Speaking

- A. Students will be able to talk about persons and things in their immediate environment, as well as their plans and their experiences, and they can provide a limited amount of supporting details.
- B. Students will be able to resolve moderately complicated situations involving familiar subjects.

IV. Reading

- A. Students will be able to read passages and short texts (newspapers, short stories, etc.) and understand overall meaning.
- B. Students will be able to support their understanding of texts through the use of context, dictionaries, or with the assistance of others at times.

V. Writing

- A. Students will be able to communicate with increasing effectiveness through notes, emails, and chats, and simple online discussions.
- B. Students will be able to write short essays on concrete topics of limited levels of complexity and with less reliance on the communicative patterns of their native language.

ATTENDANCE POLICY:

Attendance and punctuality are mandatory for all IES Abroad classes, including course-related excursions. Any exams, tests, presentations, or other work missed due to student absences can only be rescheduled in cases of documented medical or family emergencies. If a student misses more than 1.5 classes (for courses taught once a week) or 2.5 classes (for courses taught twice a week) in any course, the final grade will be reduced by one-third of a letter grade (for example, A- to B+) for every additional unexcused absence. Six absences in any course will result in a failing grade.

Punctuality

Students who are late to class will receive a .5 absence. Arriving in class more than 15 minutes late will result in 1 absence.
