

CU/US 339 GRANADA: CITY OF ARTS AND URBAN CULTURE

IES Abroad Granada

DESCRIPTION:

This course offers a critical and dynamic overview of the avant-garde creations happening in Granada during the 20th and 21st centuries, including literary, filmic, performing, musical and urban art expressions. The course will connect certain emblematic artistic movements to landmarks of the culture and folklore of the city. We will study the influx of local and itinerant populations that helped shape Granada into a melting pot of innovative and experimental creative shifts. And we will cover the dialogue between tradition and inherent idiosyncrasy that generates a space of resistance in the field of arts, from the political and social sphere.

CREDITS: 3 credits

CONTACT HOURS: 45 hours

LANGUAGE OF INSTRUCTION: Spanish

PREREQUISITES: Spanish language placement at SP 352 or above

ADDITIONAL COST: None

METHOD OF PRESENTATION:

Standard classes as well as live experiences (such as guest speakers, or field trips to culturally significant locations), discussion prompts on Moodle, readings, viewings and websites.

REQUIRED WORK AND FORM OF ASSESSMENT:

- Active class participation (includes Moodle discussion forum) - 10%
- Critical reflections - 35%
- Mid-term exam - 20%
- Final project - 35%

Participation

In addition to active class participation, every student will have to share at least one opinion in the Moodle discussion forum between each set of weekly sessions. This opinion can be a new entry or a response to a comment made by another student. The instructor will participate and give feedback as well.

Critical reflections

Each week consists of two sessions that combine a theoretical class and a live experience, either with a guest speaker or a field trip to a venue of cultural impact related to the topics analyzed in class. Reflections are due after the theoretical and live experience class, but before a new week begins.

Students must submit a critical reflection that may contain personal impressions, treatment of the subject matters, artistic techniques employed in the case of creations, as well as social impact and historical/contemporary resonance. Students are encouraged to draw from a range of resources —the required and suggested readings, the experience of live sessions, and the discussions in Moodle and in class. There are 11 total critical reflections due weekly, for 250 words each. Each reflection is worth 3.2% of the total class grade.

Mid-term exam

The written mid-term examination will consist of a diverse set of questions (definitions, explanations, descriptions, development of a content theme) and a brief composition about one selected thematic week.

Final project

The final assignment will be a comparative analysis paper incorporating historical and cultural elements in the context of various artistic expressions and social movements covered during the course.

Alternative final artistic project

As an alternative to the final project and in consultation with the instructor, students will create individually a piece of art (a written micro-theatre play, a set of poems, a short story, a cinematographic script for a short movie, an experimental video, a choreography, one or more songs, a graffiti collection, a performance, etc.). Students will be free to choose the theme and format of the artistic medium. They must connect their creations with their experience in Granada, understanding the dynamics of this city as an artistic and cultural space. Each art piece will be accompanied by a personal reflection about the creative process (that may incorporate exposition of the topics, aesthetic techniques and style choices employed, and references to the course content that influenced the conception of the piece). The instructor will supervise the development of these projects on a regular basis and the coordination of a showcase for the IES Abroad Granada community at large.

See rubric for alternative final artistic project in Annex I.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

By the end of the course, students will be able to:

- Analyze a piece of art within a historical, political, and social context.
- Exhibit knowledge of how art relates to structures of power and ideology.
- Manage theories and concepts in the field of urban anthropology and relate them to other social organization principles such as gender, ethnicity, and other social stratifications.
- Generate an ethical and sustainable position to face the problems that urban changes in globalization produce during the present day.
- Develop strategies to interpret the visual culture of a city, considering aesthetic expressions, migratory influx, and antisystem resistance spaces.
- Foster creativity and integrate discursive styles in the making of an artistic project.

ATTENDANCE POLICY:

Attendance is mandatory for all IES Abroad Granada classes. For this course, if a student misses more than three classes, one third of a letter grade (i.e., from A to A-, etc.) will be deducted from the final grade for every additional absence. Missed exams, tests, presentations, or any other assignments can only be rescheduled in case of documented medical or family emergencies. All exceptions to this policy must be approved by the IES Abroad Granada Director.

ANNEX I / RUBRICS

GRADING RUBRIC FOR STUDENT PARTICIPATION:

A	Excellent participation
	The student's contributions in class and in the Moodle forum reflect an active reading and viewing of the assigned materials. Skillfully synthesizes the main ideas of the readings/viewings and raises questions about the applications and implications of the material. Demonstrates, through questions and comments, that he or she has been capable of relating the main ideas in the readings/viewings to the other information discussed in the course, including his or her personal point of view on certain topics. The student makes informed judgments about the readings/viewings and other ideas discussed in class, providing evidence and reasons. He/she respectfully states his/her reactions about other classmates' opinions, and is capable of contributing to the inquiry spiral with other questions. The student gets fully involved in the completion of the class activities.
B	Very good participation
	The student's contributions in class and in the Moodle forum show that the assigned materials are usually read/viewed. Most of the time the main ideas are identified, even though sometimes it seems that applications and implications of the information read/viewed were not properly reflected upon. The student is able to construct over others' contributions, but sometimes seems to interrupt the shared construction to go over tangents. He/she is respectful of others' ideas. Regularly involved in the activities but occasionally loses concentration or energy.
C	Regular participation
	The participant evidences a regular reading and viewing of the assigned materials, but in a superficial way. He/she tries to construct over others' ideas, but commonly provides comments and shares opinions in the Moodle forum that indicate lack of preparation about the material. Frequently, contributions are shallow or unarticulated with the discussion in hand.
F	Insufficient participation
	Consistently, the participant completes the readings/viewings in a shallow way or does not cover them at all. Does not participate in an informed way, neither in class nor in the Moodle forum, and shows lack of interest in constructing over others' ideas.
