

GR 403 GERMAN LANGUAGE IN CONTEXT: EMERGING COMPETENT ABROAD III

IES Abroad Freiburg

DESCRIPTION:

This course builds upon the skills introduced in the previous Emerging Competent Abroad level. Students who enter this course will have mastered the outcomes of the Independent Abroad level as defined by the IES Abroad MAP for Language and Intercultural Communication, as well as selected outcomes defined in Emerging Competent Abroad. Among other characteristics, these students are able to converse at a rate of speed approaching normal conversation. They are creative, spontaneous and self-reliant as they solve problems, interpret texts, negotiate, and express their opinions, likes, and dislikes in the culture. Although they still make errors and experience communication breakdowns, these students tend to resolve these challenges on their own. Students who enter this level can already understand a variety of colloquial expressions and slang, and are also able to understand a wide variety of native speakers from different backgrounds.

Students entering this level can succeed in a range of moderately complex university courses designed for native speakers. Before registering, they should consult with the appropriate IES Abroad academic advisor on course selection.

By the end of this course, students will have started to acquire the subtlety of expression and control of complex structures that characterize Competent Abroad learners. However, Emerging Competent Abroad learners have partial mastery of these structures and often resort to simpler and more direct modes of expression, particularly when negotiating linguistically difficult or unfamiliar situations. Emerging Competent Abroad speakers understand local cultural attitudes, values, beliefs, and behavior patterns well enough to make an informed choice about which cultural features they would like to adopt or need to adopt in order to live harmoniously in the local culture. They lack some of the depth of understanding and sophistication of those who have spent more time living and working in the local context.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Students who are placed in this level should have achieved the outcomes in the Independent Abroad level as defined by the IES Abroad MAP for Language and Intercultural Communication.

By the end of the course, students will be able to achieve the outcomes for the Emerging Competent Abroad level as defined by the MAP for Language and Intercultural Communication. The key learning outcomes from the MAP are summarized below:

1. Intercultural Communication
  1. Students will be able to describe and analyze key host cultures, subcultures, habits, norms, and behaviors in a variety of settings, and they will be aware of the risk that generalizations can lead to stereotypes.
  2. Students will be able to analyze the validity of their own cultural beliefs, behaviors, and norms by contrasting and comparing them with those of the host cultures.
  3. Students will demonstrate openness and acceptance of different beliefs and styles even when they do not agree with them.
  4. Students will assume responsibility for their own learning by defining their linguistic goals and demonstrating independence in their exploration of the culture.
2. Listening
  1. Students will be able to identify a wide range of social and cultural dialects of the spoken language.
  2. Students will be able to understand most native speakers and non-native advanced speakers and comprehend a wide array of moderately complex interactions (films, theater, university lectures, radio, etc.).
3. Speaking
  1. Students will be able to participate in most academic and social interactions using, when appropriate, complex language including slang, colloquial expressions, double irony, and humor with increasing confidence.
  2. Students will be able to make arguments to support hypotheses and opinions on topics of their interest.
  3. Students will talk about abstract topics, but only if they are topics previously studied or which they are personally familiar.
  4. Students will be able to understand different levels of formality.
4. Reading
  1. Students will be able to read and understand textbooks and academic articles for classes taught in the host language as well as a wide range of popular texts for enjoyment.
  2. Students will be able to read and understand authentic materials including newspapers, advertisements, brochures, instruction manuals etc. on abstract topics with little assistance.
  3. Students will take responsibility for the selection of their reading materials based on their own interests.
5. Writing
  1. Students will be able to write for a wide range of native audiences and express themselves quite clearly and effectively.
  2. Students will be able to write essays for classes incorporating aspects of appropriate academic style with little assistance.
  3. Students will be able to use a variety of written styles with notable accuracy.

ATTENDANCE POLICY:

IES Abroad courses are designed to take advantage of the unique contribution of the instructor, and the lecture/discussion format is regarded as the primary mode of instruction. Regular class attendance is mandatory. For every unexcused absence to class session a student's final grade in the course will be reduced by 15% on the German grade scale. Tests/presentations missed during unexcused absences cannot be made up. If a student misses a class it is their responsibility to catch up on everything that was covered in class. If a student cannot attend class due to illness then they should arrange to see a doctor who can issue a doctor's note. Without a doctor's note, an absence will count as an unexcused absence.

If a student misses more than 25% of class time, whether excused or unexcused, the student will receive an F in the course.

Absences due to religious observances and family emergencies may be excusable at the discretion of the Center Director.
