JR 320 ARTS CRITICISM
IES Abroad Vienna

DESCRIPTION:
This course is an introduction to the history and traditions, artists and institutions of the performing and visual arts in Vienna as a basis for writing reviews and criticism for potential publication. Students will learn the principles of professional arts criticism and apply these to current events in theater, music, or visual arts. Students will attend performances and exhibitions and learn to capture in vivid, well-crafted prose the essence and value of an arts event.

CREDITS: 3 credits

CONTACT HOURS: 45 hours

LANGUAGE OF INSTRUCTION: English

METHOD OF PRESENTATION:
- Seminar
- Field work
- Research and interviews

REQUIRED WORK AND FORM OF ASSESSMENT:
The course surveys theater, music, the visual arts, and other cultural events in Vienna. Class time includes lectures and discussion of the principles of professional arts criticism and is accompanied by selected readings that provide an introduction to the artists, ideas and events that have shaped Viennese culture as well as an analysis of representative examples of good criticism from various sources.

Students will be required to attend and review three different types of arts events, conducting interviews and researching the context and history of the work. Written work will be due on the first class of the week following the event. Students are graded on a grasp of the cultural context and how successfully each article achieves its journalistic aim. There will also be in-class assignments to test formal skills.

- Course participation - 10%
- Midterm Exam - 25%
- Final Exam - 25%
- Review papers – 4 X 10%

Course Participation
Constructive participation starts with being there on time and continues with actively contributing, asking questions, discussing and evaluating readings and goings-on in class.

Grading Rubric for Student Participation
See below
Midterm Exam
An essay or a prepared review written in class, and multiple-choice items.

Final Exam
An essay or a prepared review written in class, and multiple-choice items.

Research Paper:
The papers in this course are written reviews, including possibly visual documentation in new media.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:
By the end of the course, students should be able to:
- Research and prepare for reviews and interviews in the time available.
- Apply skills of observation to an arts event, expanding their descriptive vocabulary and continuing the development of their own, independent writing voice.
- Apply with some skill and security the principles of professional arts criticism, using the tools of creative non-fiction in making a disciplined and convincing argument.
- Identify and analyze expectations of professional writers in the industry, as well as what steps they need to go through to develop their own writing to this level.
ATTENDANCE POLICY:
IES Vienna requires attendance at all class sessions, including field study excursions, internship meetings, scheduled rehearsals, and all tests and exams. Attendance will be taken for every class. If a student misses more than two classes without an excuse, the final grade will be reduced by one-third of a letter grade (for example, A- to B+) for every additional unexcused absence.

Excused absences are permitted only when:
1) A student is ill (health issues),
2) When class is held on a recognized religious holiday traditionally observed by the particular student, or
3) In the case of a grave incident affecting family members;
4) Exceptions may be made for conflicting academic commitments, but only in writing and only well in advance of missed class time.

Please refer to IES Vienna Attendance Policy for details on how to get your absences excused.

CONTENT:
The course will give students a grounding in Viennese culture and break down the process of preparing for and covering arts events into manageable steps and skill-building exercises, including conducting research and interviews, note taking, techniques of description and portraiture, selection of detail, vignette, narrative, and structure. Students learn how to combine observation, interviews and research using the tools of fiction in the service of fact to write reviews of arts events for potential publication.

Students will receive step-by-step practical guidance to develop a clear and informed critical perspective that is well argued and well evidenced and that is also a pleasure to read.

The course includes lecture and discussion of the traditions and principles of professional arts criticism accompanied by readings and analysis of representative examples from various sources.

Assignments include attending current arts events in theater, music, or visual art, and conducting background research and interviews with directors, curators, performers, or relevant scholars, learning what to look for, what questions to ask and how to take good notes. Assignments will also include researching the context and history of the work as well as why it matters and recreating what it was like to be at the event through the use of well observed detail, giving readers insights on the impact and quality of the concept and execution, individual works or performances and the production as a whole.

NOTE: Some of the visits and projects outlined are tentative and preliminary, or not yet defined. We will adapt the course depending on what will be offered in the fall of 2018 by institutions and venues in Vienna. Reading and reviewing assignments may be adjusted accordingly.
