CU/SO 350 – GERMAN POPULAR CULTURE
IES Abroad Berlin

DESCRIPTION:
This course provides fundamental insights into contemporary German popular culture: who or what is currently “hip” in the German context? How are German pop phenomena related to American culture? Which formats are original, which transcultural? This course focuses on various pop-cultural phenomena of the 21st century from diverse media: reality television (e.g., DSDS: Deutschland sucht den Superstar, Bauer sucht Frau), music (e.g., German Gangsta-Rap, feminist pop, “Schlager”), television series (e.g., Babylon Berlin), radical young theater (e.g., She She Pop), nightlife culture (e.g., techno club scene), literature (e.g., Helene Hegemann) and columns/essays (e.g., Margarete Stokowski). Thereby, the seminar follows a historical approach. It is based on the assumption that German pop culture has been influenced by American pop culture, from its beginnings in the 20th century to the 1990s. As a cultural practice of “Self/Americanization” (Fluck 2008) specifically German formats have emerged, both in the East, West and reunited Germany. Furthermore, the seminar investigates the political subtexts of German pop cultural practices. One focus of the seminar is on how popular culture always works with “the Abject” (i.e., the rejected and traumatic elements of a culture). At the end of the seminar, students will be familiar with the latest trends, the trendsetters and the historical-theoretical discourses of German pop culture. In excursions, workshops and guest lectures, students will also be encouraged to experience and participate in German pop culture.

Course Participation
Students must complete the assigned readings and participate in class discussions and Moodle activities. Students are expected to come prepared with personal thoughts or notes on the readings. The IES grading rubric for participation is available on Moodle.

Midterm Exam
The midterm exam (week 5) has the dual purpose of testing students’ knowledge and evaluating their ability to critically analyze and contextualize historical events and political trends. It will focus on material covered in the first half of the course.

Research Paper
Students will write a research essay (ca. 2,000 words) which is due in session 14 (week 8). In their essay, students develop a coherent argument on a chosen topic with the support of textual sources to be cited according to MLA or Chicago/Turabian citation styles. Students will be required to schedule a time to discuss their topic with the instructor before session 6 (week 3).

Presentation
After the midterm exam, each session will be introduced by students with a 10-minute presentation on key concepts, central arguments and open questions of the readings assigned in the respective course session. In the first week, each student will be assigned one presentation (to be held in sessions 11-16). Depending on the number of students in class, joint presentations by two or more students will be possible. In this case, each student will need to identify their contribution to the presentation.

Final Exam
The final exam (week 10) focuses on material covered in the second half of the semester. Students should, however, also be able to integrate ideas discussed in the first half of the semester in their answers on the final.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:
Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:
- identify the unique aspects of contemporary German pop culture,
- relate pop culture to German politics and history,
- apply categories of cultural analysis to pop cultural formats,
- understand the term “pop culture” and its forms and functions in the German context,
- compare German pop culture with American pop culture,
- to identify the subtexts of German pop cultural phenomena.

ATTENDANCE POLICY:
Attendance and punctuality in all courses and field studies are mandatory. Absences can only be excused for valid reasons. Unexcused absences can affect students’ grades. Students who miss 25% or more of all class sessions will fail the course. Missed exams cannot be taken at another time except in case of documented illness. Late submission of term papers and other work will result in grade reduction unless an extension due to illness or an emergency is approved. Please consult the IES Abroad Berlin academics manual on Moodle for additional details.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:
Students are expected to abide by the IES Abroad Academic Integrity Code. Assignments need to be properly and amply footnoted where appropriate, with all sources attributed, including images. This not only applies to written assignments but also presentations by means of PowerPoint, Prezi or posters. Contributions may be checked with plagiarism-detecting software.
